Wednesday April 20, 2022

SPECIAL PROGRAMMING

SECOUND ROUND
2022 FRENCH PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

SUNDAY APRIL 24

French voters will go to the polls to choose between Emmanuel Macron and Marine Le Pen for the second round of the Presidential Election on April 24. During the election campaign, France 24 has brought extensive, multi-platform coverage of the candidates, the race, and the issues. On election night for the second round, France 24's English language channel and website has mobilised its journalists and resources to provide global coverage of this important event in an evening of special programming.

On Live

7 pm to 12.30am*: special edition

> From 7pm to 10pm* – Presented by François Picard and Marc Perelman. For three hours, France 24 will closely follow the second round of this election with its team of reporters and political guests and go live from the two candidates campaign headquarters. François Picard and Marc Perelman will be joined by France 24's correspondents on the scene and around the world to analyze, discuss and dissect the latest numbers and issues of the election.

> From 10 pm to 12.30am - Presented by Genie Godula. Polls will be closed but France 24's special coverage continues. Joined by a team of reporters from around the world and political analysts, they'll take a deep dive into the result of the presidential election and the different consequences for France's Foreign Policy for the next five years.

>France 24 will offer a rolling election coverage: various reports as well as exclusive developments, can be found on france24.com and on mobile application.